

Healthy Headwaters

Leadership Meeting

Friday, October 28, 2011

8:00am Breakfast, check-in

8:30am – 5:00pm Meeting

Nile Hall - Preservation Park, Oakland

At this meeting, leadership in the field will:

- Determine strategies: public land management restoration priorities
- Assess opportunities: for watershed investment programs
- Deepen understanding/best practices: uncertainty and different time horizons

Agenda (Final draft 10-26-11)

8:30am

1. Welcome/Introductions

Kimery Wiltshire, Carpe Diem West

2. The Healthy Headwaters Working Group

- ▶ Purpose, goals, game plan, participants
Laura Briefer, Salt Lake Public Utilities
John Shepard, Sonoran Institute

4. The USFS Watershed Condition Framework

- ▶ Introductions and background
Mike Anderson, The Wilderness Society
- ▶ View from the Forest Service
Anne Zimmermann, U.S. Forest Service
- ▶ View from Healthy Headwaters
Laura Briefer, Salt Lake Public Utilities
Jad Daley, Trust for Public Land
Karl Morgenstern, Eugene Water & Electric Board
Randi Spivak, Geos Institute

5. Watershed Investment Programs

- ▶ What's out there: existing models; what makes them work - ingredients for success; what do utilities & ratepayers need to know?

Matt Clifford & Hillary Fishler, Carpe Diem West

Dale Lyons, City of Santa Fe

Mike McHugh, Aurora Water

Lunch + Activities

6. The Mokelumne Watershed

- ▶ California's water, climate change & the Mokelumne
Kim Carr, Sierra Nevada Conservancy
- ▶ The watershed: what's up there
Bruce Goines, U.S. Forest Service
Rick Breeze-Martin, Amador Calaveras Consensus Partnership
- ▶ Existing work - environmental benefits and avoided costs
Kelli McCune, Sustainable Conservation
- ▶ Utility Investment Perspectives
Richard Sykes, EBMUD
- ▶ Lessons learned and emerging opportunities

7. Scenario Planning – dealing with uncertainty at short, medium, and long time horizons

Dr. Tim Brown, Western Regional Climate Center

Dr. Holly Hartmann, University of Arizona

Fran Spivy-Weber, California Water Resources Control Board

8. Next Steps - the three priorities moving forward

Adjourn - 5:00pm